DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed 4/27/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues with respect to claim 21 that the word monolithic is defined as cast as a single piece or formed or composed of a material without joints or seams or consisting of a single unit. The examiner interprets the limitation 'monolithically constructed' with the plain meaning of monolithic – acting as a single, often rigid, uniform whole. Claim terms are presumed to have the ordinary and customary meanings attributed to them by those of ordinary skill in the art. However, an applicant is entitled to be his or her own lexicographer and may rebut the presumption that claim terms are to be given their ordinary and customary meaning by clearly setting forth a definition of the term that is different from its ordinary and customary meaning. Any special meaning assigned to a term "must be sufficiently clear in the specification that any departure from common usage would be so understood by a person of experience in the field of the invention." Multiform Desiccants Inc. v. Medzam Ltd., 133 F.3d 1473, 1477, 45 USPQ2d 1429, 1432 (Fed. Cir. 1998). See also MPEP § 2111.01. Since applicant asserts that the term has a special meaning, applicant should amend the claim to better reflect what applicant intends to claim as the invention. Claims are given their broadest reasonable interpretation in light of the supporting disclosure. In re Morris, 127 F.3d 1048, 1054-55, 44 USPQ2d 1023, 1027-28 (Fed. Cir. 1997).

With regard to claim 22, the limitation of "blow-molded" monolithic unit is directed to a process of making the unit. How the unit is made does not patentability distinguish the structure over the prior art. The rejection has been made in the sense of In re Thorpe, 777 F.2d 695, 698, 227 USPQ 964, 966 (Fed. Cir. 1985) (citations omitted), which states that when the product is claimed the patentability is defined only by the product per se, not by the process of its making and the burden is shifted to Applicant to show that the process of the prior art produces a different product. This should be presented by the factual evidence, and in the instant case the Applicant failed to show a valid side-by-side comparison between their product and the product disclosed by the Clifford reference wherein the only difference is the process of their making as per In re Dunn, 349 F. 2d 433, 146 USPQ 489 (CCPA 1965).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 21 and 22 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Clifford et al. USPN 6814265.

As to claims 21 and 22, Clifford discloses a medicine dropper 10 comprising a first portion 24 being resiliently compressible at a first end and being essentially rigid and hollow between the first end and a second end; a second portion 28 monolithically constructed and in fluid communication with the first portion, and being essentially rigid and hollow between a third end and a fourth end. The examiner interprets the limitation 'monolithically constructed' with the plain meaning of monolithic – acting as a single, often rigid, uniform whole. The dropper comprises a third portion 26 monolithically connected and in fluid communication with the second portion 28, the third portion being essentially rigid and hollow between a fifth end and a sixth end and tapering to a sixth end having an opening (near closures 16 and 18). All portions have elliptical cross sections, which are dimensioned differently descending in size from the first portion to the sixth portion (Figures 2 and 3).

With regard to claim 22, the limitation of "blow-molded" monolithic unit is directed to a process of making the unit. Determination of patentability is based on the product itself. "Even though product-by-process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based on the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in the product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product was made by a different process." In re Thorpe, 777 F.2d 695, 698, 227 USPQ 964, 966 (Fed. Cir. 1985) (citations omitted). MPEP 2113.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 1-20 are allowed.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
